Time flies...

It was so long ago now, but the holidays always conjure up old dusty memories. Us playing wiffle ball in the yard, those late nights gathered around the small kitchen tv playing Intellivision, Christmas dinners with the white and blue tree...I could go on forever. You were a pillar of my childhood, and one of my great regrets in life is not telling you how important you were to me and how loved you were by all of us. I'll never forget you, grandma. I love you.

Mom-I will miss you forever and my heart is still broken. I hope I was a good son because you were the best mother, and I pray you know that I appreciated you.

Hill Family,

My deepest sympathies on the loss of Judy. It has been many years since I've seen her, but I always remembered how nice she was to me as a child. Please know that my thoughts and prayers will be with you all.
